BURN NEGRO AT STAKE

Pennsylvania Quaker Community Shocked at Brutal Lynching of Negro—Every Effort to be Made to Punish Ringleaders.

Cotestville, Pa., Aug. 14.—The fearful work of a frenzied mob here last night, when it dragged a wounded negro from a hospital and burned him to death for killing Edgar Rice, a policeman, Saturday night, has aroused the greatest public indignation, and everything possible will be done to bring to justice the ringleaders of the mob. That such an affair could occur in a Quaker community like that in Chester county was not believed possible.

Thousands of persons journeyed out to the scene of the burning today. Even before dawn people began to gather. Every sort of vehicle was brought into use, and prices to take people to the place quickly went up. The distance to the Newland farm, where the lynching occurred, is not far, and a steady stream of curious people kept moving out to the scene. Nothing was left of the victim but his ashes and the cot that he was carried to the scene on.

Captors Are Angry.

Among the angriest people in the community are some of those who captured Walker yesterday afternoon in a tree in the woods near here. He had two revolvers with him, and when he was surrounded by the posse he threatened them. Several of the men hunters fired at him and wounded him slightly. Evidently believing he was about to be shot to death, Walker tried suicide sending a bullet into his head. He fell to the ground and was quickly captured by the crowd. With no thought of lynching, but with the determination of having him tried quietly for the murder of Rice, the posse laid him across three shotguns and carried him to a waiting automobile which brought him to the Cotestville hospital.

When he reached the hospital Walker confessed his crime to Chief of Police Umsted and District Attorney Cathrop.

The throng was instantly transformed into a riotous mob. The attack on the hospital was then made. There were only the superintendent, four nurses and a policeman in the institution at the time. The crowd swarmed into the place through doors and windows before any one knew it. Still lying on the cot the negro was carried through the streets and to the Newland farm. He had been tied to the bed with ropes, and as the crowd tore fence rails and gathered wood and other inflammables, Walker writhed on his cot and tugged at his bonds, but could not free himself.

The negro pleaded for mercy. He declared he killed Rice in self defense. "Don't give me a crooked death because I am not white," he said. Only vile oaths greeted his pleas.

All the leaders in the crowd wore masks made of handkerchiefs tied around their faces. They did their work quickly, and after piling up the rubbish, placed the cot, with its shuddering victim on it, over the pile. A dozen matches, it seemed, were simultaneously applied to the pyre and in an instant the negro was enveloped in the flames. The fire burned the ropes that held him and he made a dash for liberty. Walker reached a fence and was about to climb it when stalwart hands seized him and dragged him back and hurled him into the flames. He writhed in terrible agony as the frenzied mob yelled in satisfaction. Shortly afterward the lynchers left the scene.

PRESTON "CLIQUE" RESENTS LETTER

signed a contract to throw him in a one hour handicap, twice and further agreed not to pin him at all.

"Harbertson agreed to let stay one hour and a half, both Harbertson and Johnson claiming that was the only way they could get the match, that Allred would not wrestle under any other conditions. The contract at Logan with Harbertson, reads—you probably have the contract there with your promoters now—"that the winner two out of three falls would be declared the winner of the match, and furthermore if only one fall gained in one hour and a half, would be declared the winner the purse to be divided 75-25.

"We can prove by Mr. Wadman, manager of Harbertson that Allred followed Harbertson around Logan trying to give another hundred dollars as per their verbal agreement.

"Mr. Allred, in your match with Watkins about a year ago didn't you tell a few of your particular friends that you would lose the second fall to Watkins, which you did, as there were a few of your Cache Valley friends that you were so anxious to protect? Bet that you would win the second fall relying on your wonderful honesty that you boast about in the report of the Logan Republican Aug. 12? What do you call faking anyway, Allred?

"Then a few months later, you matched with Watkins again, to take place at McQueen's hall for a side bet of $5.00. There was no side bet, only a bluff to create a good attendance.

"Then next came Alex Swanson. You won over Swanson, one fall in 46 minutes and second in 6 minutes. How much, Mr. Allred, did you pay Otto Ross about two weeks after, when you were on your honeymoon at Salt Lake for money that was coming to him on bets made at the match between you and Swanson, and how much do you wish to bet now that you can stay one hour with Alex Swanson, now? The clique is ready to back him.

"The next was the day that Kit Carson showed at Preston, when Allred tried and advertised to make a match with 'Young Farmer Burns of Chicago,' when there was no 'Young Farmer Burns.'

"The next was when he was double crossed by Harbertson at Logan on the 4th of July.

"The clique does not claim to be angels but they do like to see a good wrestling match and are willing to pay for it any time, but it has always been a one-sided affair when Allred was on the mat.

"We have absolute proof that Allred tried to arrange a private match to take place at Lewiston with Harbertson and asked Dr. Parkinson of that place to be a party of the affair. He wanted to bet Harbertson five hundred dollars, and after wrestling three or four minutes would fall and claim a foul. Dr. Parkinson was to give Allred the match, however, Dr. Parkinson declined to have anything to do with him.

"Would Mr. Allred have this manly confession if Johnson and Harbertson had carried out their end of the agreement and had let him stay as he wanted them to? I hardly think so. He would have retired and claimed the middleweight championship of the Intermountain region and have been pointed out as the undefeated champion of Cache Valley. Or more probably he would have been matched with Yokel and his many Cache Valley friends (?) would have less of this world's goods, but have more knowledge as to his (Allred's) ability as a wrestler. Messrs. Johnson and Harbertson should be thanked for showing this man Allred up in his true light."

AN END TO THE RUMORS

An abundance of rumor has been circulated recently in the city regarding the condition of affairs in paying district number nineteen, but until yesterday very few tangible facts could be obtained. It will be remembered that work ceased and everything came to a standstill two weeks ago when Contractor F. W. Whittier quietly left for parts unknown. Upon hearing of his partner's action, Mr. C. P. Madsen of the contracting firm of Madsen-Whittier Construction company of Boise, Idaho, immediately came to Logan and did all possible to rectify matters. He however, was called home on account of critical sickness in the family, and was detained in Boise until a few days ago, when he again came to Utah, only to learn that in his absence writs of attachment had been made against all machinery of the company, and as well, the bank accounts where the assignment of warrants were made.

Desirous of completing his contract even under these circumstances, Mr. Madsen took up the matter with the Utah Portland Cement Co., and it is reliably reported that while in the presence of the management of that company the gentleman was assured that the attachments would be released. He then made matters right locally and completed plans to resume work this (Thursday) morning. But was, at the last moment, notified that under the circumstances the Utah Portland Cement Co., would not permit the work to continue.

In answer to questions recently asked, it can be said that the workmen will suffer no loss, the banks are well secured and the contractors' bondsmen will be properly cared for. Apparently, then, Mr. C. P. Madsen, who has convinced everyone locally that he is the gentleman in the case, will have the long end of the bill to foot.

It is common talk that Whittier is at present in the city of Mexico.
